Minister Barrios Interviewed.

CHICAGO, April 6.—[Special.]—[illegible] Barrios, [illegible] minister to the United States [illegible] was in the city yesterday on his way to Washington. He will [illegible] of San Salvador at the same time. [illegible] Barrios said his trip from Panama was [illegible] its pleasant features, and as soon as the steamer arrived in San Francisco he was so pleased with that city that he and his family spent several days there. "Do you look for a confederation of the Central American states?" "I believe that is not far off. President Barrios of Guatemala looks upon such a confederation as the hope and aim of his life. When these republics are united as one nation there is no danger of petty strifes or domestic discords. I have given the project," said he, "my warm and energetic support and I know of others prominent in the several Central American republics who will never weary until our labors are brought to a successful issue."

Latter Day Saints in Session.

WILLOUGHBY, O., April 6.—[Special.]—To-morrow will be a great day for the village of Kirtland, three miles south of here. For several days members of the reorganized church of the Latter Day Saints have been arriving in large numbers to attend the first of a series of reunion conferences which begins to-morrow. Delegates are already here from every state in the union and Canada. One of the most prominent members of the church present is Joseph Smith, Jr. Among others arrived are W. W. Blair, leading counselor of the church, and missionary at Salt Lake City, Utah, and Rev. D. L. Mills of California. The meetings will be held in the old Mormon temple, which has stood idle for 50 years. The reorganized church having obtained legal possession after a contest with the Utah Mormons. The conference will last a week. There will be preaching by priests and elders each evening and three times on Sunday. Letters from reorganized churches all over the world will be read. Prominent among these reports will be those from the branches of the church at the Society Islands, England and Wales.

Tough Timber for an Angel.

CHARLESTON, S. C., April 6.—Howard Underwood (white) was hanged here to-day. He passed a quiet night and this morning dressed in a suit of white prepared for him at his request. At the religious services at the jail Underwood joined in the singing. At 12:30 the culprit was led to the scaffold accompanied by a Baptist minister. The culprit addressed the crowd, numbering 3000, and said: "My brothers and sisters, I am standing on the brink of eternity. I am happy to say I am at rest with Jesus. I am going with my golden slippers and long white robe to walk up and down the streets of glory. I am in Jesus, and He is in me. I want you all to love each other. Be honest and live right." He sang "Precious Name," and showed no signs of faltering. The sheriff then pinioned him and at 1 o'clock the trap was sprung. He died in seven minutes and the body was cut down. Underwood killed Belle Lucas, a colored woman, by chopping her and beating her head to pieces more than a year ago.

The Ministers and the Confidence Men.

NEW YORK, April 6.—[Special.]—At a session of the New York Methodist conference yesterday, Rev. Dr. Buckley of the Christian Advocate warned the members against confidence men, as two brethren had already been deceived by these sharpers, and he gave a description of the method of bunko men. The scoundrels described are said to have been lying in wait for ministers connected with the conference as they were visiting the Methodist book concern and nabbed them as they were going to or coming down the stairs. "I accidentally came upon a minister in the clutches of these confidence men. The minister, whose name I won't mention, was just about to sign a check for $175. The confidence man had approached him and represented himself as a brother-in-law of a well known presiding elder. Some of the confidence men have been trying to work their little games with a minister in front of this very church this morning."

Slavery in New York.

NEW YORK, April 6.—[Special.]—A case which seems like an attempt to establish slavery in this country under British law attracted considerable attention in the Jefferson police court yesterday. The cause of dispute was a 14 year old Malay who had been shipped while an infant with a load of coolies from Calcutta to British Guiana. The child had been indentured to Mrs. Emily Donnelly, who then lived in Guiana, but who came to this city a few years ago, bringing the boy with her. Since then he has been used as a servant by different people to whom he was lent by Mrs. Donnelly. He finally was loaned to a Miss Julia Moore managing a private school, and when Mrs. Donnelly demanded him back on the ground that he was her slave issue was made in a justice court. The justice sent the case to a higher tribunal and sent the child, in the meantime, to a society for the prevention of cruelty to children.

Conkling's Trial Postponed.

NEW YORK, April 6.—[Special.]—The interior of the court of general sessions was crowded this morning with people who had come to attend the trial of Conkling. Assistant District Attorney O'Byrne said he was not prepared to go on with the case.

Conkling's counsel strenuously objected.

O'Byrne said that he had begun an investigation that would take all the gush out of this so-called domestic drama.

"If the case is postponed it will go over until the May term," remarked Judge Gildersleeve.

O'Byrne was satisfied with this, but Conkling's counsel, after a long appeal to the judge for an immediate trial, asked that, if any postponement was granted, it should be until September in order that he could go home and attend to his business. The judge decided to adjourn the trial until the September term.

Char on DeLesseps and the Canal.

NEW YORK, April 6.—[Special.]—To-day a Tribune reporter asked Charles DeLesseps: "Do you apprehend any hindrance to your work in consequence of the Monroe treaty?"

He replied: "Control of the canal is a question for nations, not for the canal company, which is a business firm having nothing to do with international politics. It is universal and for all nations alike."

"Has the Columbian government any preparations for fortification at the ends of the canal?" was asked.

"The company has no connection with the Columbian government except the contract in regard to digging the canal."

Herr Most Coming to this Coast.

NEW YORK, April 6.—[Special.]—Socialist Johann Most addressed the internationalists this evening. The Telegram says the meeting is in part to give him a hearty send-off to the west to-morrow. He has received invitations from various groups of the International Workingmen's association in the larger cities of the west to visit them and make addresses. It was said at Schwab's headquarters to-day that the association has had much more growth since Most's arrival than before his arrival, and that it has a much better and firmer organization. Most will visit the Pacific coast before returning.

Chili has Struck a Bonanza.

NEW YORK, April 6.—[Special.]—Herald's special March 14.—Chili is to-day receiving an income from Peruvian nitrate and guano customs, military taxes and enforced contributions of very nearly $28,000,000 per annum and the whole expenses of the war up to the year of 1882 were under $50,000,000, so that by the end of this year the expenditure will be more than covered and the sum of $28,000,000 in silver added to the revenue of a republic containing not more than two and one half millions of inhabitants.

The Herald on the Passion.

NEW YORK, April 6.—[Special.]—Herald editorial: We have not the slightest interest in Salmi Morse or his Passion play. In fact we are inclined to consider them something of a public nuisance. But when Senator Boyd or any one else proposes to regulate religious opinions by public law we unhesitatingly say they mistake the public. No law is needed to suppress the Passion play. Leave that to popular sentiment. If it is not deserving of favor it will not be patronized and will speedily kill itself without any assistance from Boyd.

Cyclone in Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK, April 6.—A severe wind, rain and hail storm prevailed in central and southwestern Arkansas Thursday night doing considerable damage to buildings and fences and blowing down many trees along the line of the Hot Springs and Malvern railroad. The cyclone developed such force that the wind lifted passenger coaches from the track and sent it down an embankment. Several persons were bruised, none seriously. The effects of the storm are visible in many places.

Gould's Yacht.

PHILADELPHIA, April 6.—[Special.]—A large party of New Yorkers will arrive to-morrow morning on a special train to witness the launch of Jay Gould's yacht Atalanta. It is yet only a wood and iron skeleton of the craft [illegible]. The decks are [illegible] planked and no masts, bowsprit or spar gives promise of the canvas she will spread.

Thinks they will [illegible].

CHICAGO, April 6.—J. W. Potter, president of the North Chicago Rolling Mill Company, [illegible] belief that the Amalgamated Association will accede to the conference asked by the [illegible] that they do not necessarily involve a reduction.

Rossa will Talk no More.

NEW YORK, April 6.—[Special.]—Metropolitan journals attempted to interview O'Donovan Rossa to-day but he said: "I am through talking. The supreme council of revolutionary organizations has advised me to talk no more with reporters."

Not a Comet.

BOSTON, April 6.—A cable message received at Harvard College observatory from Dr. Kruger announces that the object discovered by Dr. Hartwig is not Barnard's comet, as previously announced, but new nebula.

Failures for the Week.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Business failures for the last seven days were 197, as compared with 182 last week. Among these there were 14 from the Pacific States and territories.

It is expected that connection will be made within a month, when a through line will be opened between St. Louis and San Francisco through the Southern Pacific, the Atlantic and Pacific and the St. Louis and San Francisco railroads, which it is uncertain [illegible] actually under the control of the Southern Pacific railroad. On completion of the Mohave branch of the Southern Pacific almost the entire working force at present engaged there will be transferred to Redding.

Will Contest the Will.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6.—[Special.]—The estate of the millionaire Thomas H. Blythe bids fair to be involved in protracted litigation, as the deceased is said to have numerous heirs, and from the disposition manifested by a woman named Nelly Firman she will contest any will that may be found. Some years ago she sued Blythe for divorce, which was denied on the ground that she never had been married to him. She has already made application for letters of administration. Search among his private papers failed to reveal any will and an attempt will be made Monday to open his vault at the safe deposit.

The Coast Survey.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6.—[Special.]—The United States steamer Ranger has left this port for the Mexican coast. She will complete a survey of the coast line below Acapulco and probably the line of Central America. The steamer Hassler of the coast survey service, is expected down from Mare Island this week. She will be stored and fitted for an expedition to Alaska for the purpose of properly locating the coast line of that territory.

Alfred L. Chisholm Missing.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6.—[Special.]—Alfred L. Chisholm, stepson of B. D. Chisholm, the absent secretary of the Albion mine, has been missing from his office for upwards of a week, and fears are entertained that he has been foully dealt with. At the time of his father's trouble young Chisholm was in Portland and came here as soon as he learned the news with the view of supporting his mother.

Competition Ended.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6.—[Special.]—The Alaska commercial company has bought the Western Fur company and now has no competitor in the Alaska fur business. The terms are not known. The Western Fur company was composed of English capitalists, who found the struggle against the Alaska Commercial company too hard and were compelled to surrender.

Terrific Hurricane.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6.—[Special.]—The British bark Agra, Muir, on a voyage to this port from the Phillipine Islands encountered a severe hurricane, lasting 15 hours, with wind from the southeast, culminating at the northwest [illegible] heavy sea. The vessel at times was [illegible] unmanageable.

The Apaches and their Devilish Deeds.

TUCSON, April 6.—[Special.]—The Star's Hermosillo special says a scout just arrived from Ures reports the Apaches southeast of there. Watson, well known at Tombstone and Tucson, is reported killed in a fight with five or six Indians 15 or 20 miles from Ures. Seven Americans and one Mexican missing are supposed to have been killed, also a family. 10 persons were killed. Two small children were killed by taking them by the feet and swinging their heads against a stone. Green of Tombstone, killed two Indians in a fight with them. His horse was shot from under him. The scout says the band numbers 7 and another 30. The last report of the Indians is that they were near Palm Tree ranch some six miles southeast of Ures. Green thinks there have been more persons killed than reported. General Carbo, commander-in-chief of the district, sent 60 stand of arms to Ures this morning. He is expecting 800 stand and 200,000 rounds of ammunition. To-day he will put that many more men in the field after the Indians. The governor says he does not think the Indians will come nearer Ures than now, as there are about 1100 soldiers in the field near Ures.

The Reservation Indians Peaceably Disposed.

TUCSON, April 6.—Agent Wilcox sends the following dispatch here from San Carlos: Under a most searching examination Penaltishn, the captured Chiricahuas steadily denies that the hostiles had been joined by any reservation Indians since April. He gave the names of two leaders of bands engaged in recent raids, the location of their stronghold in Old Mexico, the date of leaving, the number of each raiding band and detailed the movements of his own party until after the murder of Judge McComas and wife when he left for the reservation to learn the temper of the agency Indians and the disposition of the authorities towards [illegible] band should they seek the reservation. The events of the past few days have satisfied me that no hostiles can find a secure harbor on the reservation. Nearly all the Indians here are showing a daily interest in the work of preventing further depredations.

The above referred to the correspondence which had been going on in regard to the disposition of the property, gave ample reason to believe that the sale would be perfected in a comparatively short time. They are expecting a necessary letter in a few days acquainting them with the details of the proposed purchase. They had already been given every assurance that the location of the tract and the adaptability for the purposes of the purchasers was without doubt. The agent of the English syndicate would in all probability visit the coast in the course of a month and the company with them would proceed to Portland to make a final inspection and [illegible] to the arranging of the papers.

THE NICARAGUA CANAL.

General Beale Enthusiastic Over the Project and Confident of its Speedy Success.

NEW YORK, April 6.—[Special.]—Not much can be learned at General Grant's office or from General Beale now in the city, but Secretary of Legation [illegible] makes the statement that sufficient financial encouragement has been afforded by capitalists here to justify the early commencement of work on the Nicaragua canal. Beale expressed sanguine expectations founded he says on a very recent interview with Captain Eads upon the precise nature of which however he did not reveal. He says the company will not ask recognition from congress but will go on under the concession as obtained from Nicaragua which are ample and with whom the best relations exist. He denies the statement, copied yesterday from a Panama paper, that cablegrams had been sent to the Nicaraguan government asking it to cancel the [illegible] contract. The company is amply satisfied with the commercial advantages already [illegible] and the general in both isthmus [illegible]. He believes the canal can be completed for $60,000,000 and that it will be undertaken and finished by American capital [illegible].

THE PRETENSIONS OF DE LESSEPS.

And believes his plans impracticable. He says the latter would be only too glad if the Nicaragua canal project were abandoned by the present company, for he would be quick to transfer his Panama interests [illegible] a practical beginning has been made or the ground has been scratched over in which view Presidents Houston [illegible] of the Pacific mail concurred. An opinion is expressed that the reports printed here and at Boston yesterday concerning De Lesseps' arrival here [illegible]

[illegible] for the church conference Rev. W. W. Blair was the next speaker. He is an [illegible] of the church, and present missionary to Utah. Among other things he said: "Our conference demands some reference to Joseph Smith the seer. We see him the poor unlettered boy in the wilds of New York persecuted, opposed on every hand. He organized the church of six members in the backwoods of New York and from that nucleus a church has arisen that has attracted the attention of the civilized world. If Joseph Smith was not inspired by God Almighty he was the most wonderful man in this country. We praise him and his work here performed." Rev. C. Gurley made a short address speaking of the Utah Mormons as bigamists. He said they are

"The people of Utah, men and women, have practiced the meanest abuse that ever disgraced the world. I am very sorry that such a terrible thing as polygamy exists. It is as black as Egyptian darkness. I [illegible] religious followers who do [illegible] country to obey its laws. I would rather have my child a rank infidel than a Utah Mormon practicing polygamy. We hope the United States government will draw a distinction between the Latter Day Saints and those latter day devils in Utah." This closed the afternoon service. A permanent organization will be effected before [illegible] John W. G. Gilbert of Fall River, Mass., preached a sermon.

SPORTING NOTES.

THE BILLIARD TOURNAMENT.

CHICAGO, April 6.—By beating Dion in the afternoon game of the billiard tournament to-day, Maurice Daly secured third prize, Dion fourth and Morris fifth. Daly went off for a sharp lead early, took a strong lead in the 3d inning. Dion [illegible] Daly's average [illegible] 85.

[illegible] SCHAEFER WINS.

The last game of the tournament to decide the world championship at balkline game was played this evening to an audience which literally packed Central Music hall to the doors. The players Maurice Vignaux and Jacob Schaefer displayed their characteristic points of play. Nervousness was apparent on the part of both players [illegible]. Schaefer won the lead and chose the black ball. [illegible] In the 18th inning Vignaux made [illegible] with the game standing 493 [illegible] made game easily [illegible] Schaefer [illegible] 600, Vignaux [illegible]

IMPORTANT TRIAL OF THE CONSPIRATORS.

THE [illegible] PRISONERS.

[illegible] Nelson's [illegible] Lambeth, [illegible] Wilson and Gallagher, Dynamite [illegible] have been placed under police surveillance [illegible] carefully [illegible]. The police hope in this way to secure evidence on which to base further arrests as they are convinced that numerous accomplices of the men already in custody are at large. One evidence of the fact is [illegible] that large sums of money at irregular intervals have been deposited in the bank of England to the credit of the men held in custody in Millbank jail for the last six months and other [illegible] Henry Dalton [illegible] at the American exchange yesterday [illegible] according to information obtained from police sources to-day. Some time in February [illegible] appearance he was unassuming and maintained a quietly reserved demeanor while lolling about the American reading room. He appeared to be more interested in English papers than in American periodicals and he was especially concerned to get the latest news. It is understood that Norman's counsel will base the defense on a plea that he was an innocent agent and was employed in the capacity of a clerk for a limited time for a man from the United States who has not been arrested yet. It will be held that Norman was in entire ignorance of the fact that the box contained terrible explosives. It is alleged by parties who claim to have some knowledge of Norman that he is of respectable birth and education and came to England expecting to find employment. No arrests have been made in London, except the four reported yesterday.

WILL ENACT STRONGER LAWS.

LONDON, April 6.—The stock of explosives discovered by the police at Whitehead's manufactory in Birmingham has been examined by a good inspector who reports that he found among other articles for destruction of life and property 170 pounds of nitro-glycerine. The government has already taken action looking to an amendment of the law with regard to the possession of explosives. Sir William Harcourt, home secretary, announced this afternoon in the commons that Monday next he would introduce a bill to that effect and would ask the house to facilitate the passage of the bill in order to secure its speedy enactment. This announcement of the government's intention to deal with the matter was received with cheers by the house.

THE [illegible] PRISONERS.

LONDON, April 5.—The dynamite prisoners were arraigned at Bow street to-day and charged with having in their possession with felonious intent explosive materials. The detectives gave a full history of their chase after Norman, and gave a number of points which in their opinion gave proof to his guilt and to intimate relations between him and other prisoners. It transpired that the man whom Norman alleges engaged him as a clerk, is Fletcher. The detectives deposed that on Norman's person was found a telegram signed Fletcher. At the conclusion of the testimony the prisoners were remanded without bail although their counsel strongly urged that bail be allowed.

THE EXCITEMENT INTENSE.

LONDON, April 6.—Interest in the nitro-glycerine discoveries continues to grow and the excitement is intense. The papers are making the most of their opportunity and are selling frequent editions with headings "A plot to blow up London." The contents—editorial and local news—seek to connect the arrest of the four dynamite prisoners with the advice given by O'Donovan Rossa to Irishmen to burn everything English except their coals.

AN URGENT APPEAL.

LONDON, April 6.—An urgent appeal is issued to Irish members to attend at a session of commons Monday next setting forth that business of the utmost importance will come up.

PARLIAMENTARY ELECTION.

SOUTHAMPTON, April 6.—Alfred Giles, conservative, is [illegible] to parliament without opposition in place of Charles Parker Butt, conservative, raised to the bench.

THE DYNAMITE PLOTTERS.

LONDON, April [illegible].—The four men arrested in the city in the past 48 hours on suspicion of being concerned in the plots to blow up the government buildings were arraigned in the Bow Street court this morning. Justice Ingham, who presided, was informed that they were brought to the bar upon a charge of having in their possession explosives with intent to use the same for felonious purpose. The statute provides that all persons convicted of this crime shall be liable to punishment of two years at hard labor. The prisoners were put down on the charge sheet as Norman, aged 32; Gallagher, 32; Wilson, 31; Dalton, 31. Dalton is also known by the alias of John O'Connor. When the prisoners were marched into the dock a stalwart policeman was stationed behind each. They are all intelligent men, well dressed and have every appearance of being not only respectable but educated.

The evidence both direct and circumstantial was given almost entirely by detectives. They deposed that they followed Norman from the dynamite factory in Birmingham to his hotel in this city. They dogged his footsteps Wednesday and finally arrested him late last night. When made a prisoner he declared that he had no idea what the box contained yet in his pockets were keys that exactly fitted the box. The detectives also found on him a five pound note with a stamp of March 10 printed thereon. Among other articles taken from him was a map of London and an envelope addressed "Gallagher, American Exchange." The officers stated also that he had in his pocket a telegram directing him to call on Fletcher at Charing Cross hotel. Fletcher is the person who, according to Norman, engaged him to carry the dynamite box taken from him.

In regard to Wilson and Gallagher the evidence of the policemen who arrested them was not less convincing. They deposed that when they inquired of Wilson what he had in his portmanteau he curtly replied: "You had better look." They examined it and found rubber bags containing the liquids already described. Gallagher denied any knowledge of those bags or their contents. Although Gallagher was arrested in Nelson Square, he gave his address as Charing Cross hotel. It was remarked at this point in the proceedings that the clue to Gallagher's connection with Norman was that the envelope found on Norman was directed to Gallagher [illegible]. Dispatch to Norman asked him to call at the place which Gallagher claimed as his residence. The police stated further that they found at Gallagher's [illegible] rubber bags like those in the portmanteau, besides a quantity of money and a letter of credit for $[illegible],000, dated New York, March 11th.

Gallagher here interposed with the remark that [illegible] and was [illegible] of chemicals; that the rubber bags were explosive was [illegible] a new discovery.

In regard to the arrest of Dalton, alias O'Connor, the police testified that he refused to give any address except Bowles' reading rooms, 14 Edward street, [illegible] road. He was however searched [illegible]

Dalton here said [illegible]. The fuse you found was merely a cigar lighter.

The police continued the search and learned the whereabouts of Dalton's lodging house by showing [illegible]. They found upon him a diary which contained a receipt for the purchase of [illegible] of mercury and other chemical [illegible] pounds.

Dalton here reiterated the denial that he had nothing to do [illegible] with the other prisoners or any knowledge of them.

Norman's counsel, Wm. D. Smythe, the other prisoners having no legal adviser except as he acted [illegible] for them, made little comment on the testimony and confined his remarks to an urgent appeal on the question of bail which he asked to be allowed to give for his client. He said that Norman had been in the country only about a week.

Judge Ingham refused to grant the request of Gallagher and Norman that their money be restored to them, and in closing the preliminary examination said he would remand them until Thursday without bail. Additional precautions will be taken to guard Bow street prison and the prisoners Norman, Gallagher, Wilson and Dalton were carefully watched.

WHITEHEAD'S MANUFACTORY.

Whitehead recently arrested at Birmingham is believed to be Fleming. When Whitehead was arrested he made a great effort to get a bottle [illegible] cupboard. The windows of Whitehead's room were lined with wire gauze to prevent missiles entering. The 170 pounds of nitro-glycerine in White's manufactory was contained in a carboy this being placed in a tub of ice to keep the temperature low until the dangerous substance could be removed. The Birmingham police have intimated that a man [illegible] in communication with Whitehead left Birmingham the day before the explosion occurred at the local government office.

[illegible] EXPLOSIONS.

GLASGOW, April 6.—The statement is made that the arrests at Liverpool furnished the police with a clue to the cause of the recent explosions in Glasgow. According to the latest information it was intended that these explosions should be on a comprehensive scale. The plot included the destruction of the canal viaduct. They were partially successful. Several detectives have started for Liverpool to work out evidence.

Progress of the Count.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The committee examining the condition of the United States treasury are making rapid progress. The bonds held to secure the circulation of national banks [illegible] held as security for public deposits and bonds of the Indian trust fund have been counted and found to agree with the amounts called for. All [illegible] have been [illegible] and the work now before the committee is a straight count of the gold [illegible] of the reserve United States notes and bags of silver coin. The coin is in packages of notes and each package counts as 4,000 notes. There are about 3,500 bags of silver, each bag containing $1,000. The count will not be finished for two weeks. Members of the committee say the treasury is in a good state in every respect.

The Jeannette Court of Inquiry.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The Jeannette court of inquiry convened to-day. The judge advocate announced that he had received a communication from Dr. Collins enclosing 225 questions which he desired to have put to the witnesses. Seaman Bartlett was called, and the questions read to him. In reply witness said, in substance, that Collins was treated exactly as the other officers. Witness was of the opinion that the trip to Belun might have been made sooner, but it would have been attended with great suffering, and he believed taking all things into consideration that everything was done that could have been done to rescue De Long's party.

No Crookedness in the Island Sugar Trade.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The secretary of state has transmitted to the treasury department a report from R. M. Daggett, minister resident at Honolulu, with regard to statements made that the effect the Chinese sugars are being imported at Honolulu thence to be shipped to the United States as Hawaiian sugars which pay no duty. Daggett says that after a thorough investigation he is satisfied that the statements above referred to are entirely without foundation.

Persuading Indians to Join a Circus.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—[Special.]—Information has been received at the Indian office to the effect that parties are on the Pine Ridge reservation endeavoring to get some Sioux Indians to leave the reservation and join a circus. Indian Commissioner Price telegraphed Agent McGillicuddy that no one had a right to take Indians off the reservation, and he was instructed to use all justifiable means to prevent parties from doing so.

Every Office Contributes.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—It is estimated by persons thoroughly familiar with the subject that under the new law reducing letter postage and regulating the pay of postmasters the receipts of not more than one office in every four, on a general average, will be in excess of the postmasters' salaries under the existing law. It is said that all post-offices, however small, will contribute about two-thirds of their receipts to the government.

Patent Located.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The commissioner-general of the land office has sent to the surveyor-general of New Mexico a patent for the private land claim known as the "Antonchico grant." The land is situated in San Miguel and Bernalillo counties New Mexico and contains 387,351 acres.

A BUSHWHACKER [illegible].

STANFORD, April 6.—[Special.]—Wm. Shadowin, an ex-confederate guerilla, on trial for killing Dr. Bell of Shelbyville, Tenn., and six soldiers, in 1862, was acquitted, the murder amnesty passed by the legislature just after the war. The proof was that he and others shot the men in cold blood, the victims being unarmed and begging for mercy, and then robbed the bodies. Shadowin did not belong to the regular army of the confederacy, but was a member of the notorious Jim Bridgewater gang, which, under the name of Home Guards, so terrorized this section of Kentucky during the war.

ATTEMPT TO WRECK A TRAIN.

ST. LOUIS, April 6.—An attempt was made to wreck a train on the Missouri Pacific railway yesterday morning, but no harm was done. It is thought it was not the design to wreck the passenger train, but to stop the train on route to Mexico, having on board $10,000 to pay the construction hands on the Mexican Central railway. A negro was discovered near the obstruction, and jailed. This is the second time the track has been obstructed at the same place.

BUTLER FOR PRESIDENT.

It is regarded as certain by observers of political movements in the eastern states that Gen. Butler is resolved to make an effort to secure the democratic nomination for the presidency. He has the prestige of success in Massachusetts, which is considered no small matter; and it is believed by his supporters that he would draw as heavily upon the republican vote in other states as he did last fall in Massachusetts. But this is a very doubtful chance. It is not at all probable—indeed it is hardly possible—that he would get the electoral vote of the old bay state; for there would be a great difference between voting for Butler for governor and voting for him for president. Butler's success in Massachusetts last year was due partly to mere waywardness in voting, and partly to the fact that only a light vote was called out. Such a result cannot be depended on as any sure indication of the political future. For when the people vote for president they want a man who represents steadiness and sincerity in his character, and whose election would assure prudence and stability in the government.

But would the democratic convention take Butler as its candidate? It possibly might, since it cannot but be remembered that the party accepted Horace Greeley, or rather that its nominating convention did. When, however, the election came on the democratic masses did not rally to Greeley's support; and they might equally fail to support Butler. A great many would remember how hateful Butler was to them during the long period of his association with the republican party. He was the representative, all that time, of everything that brought upon the republican party severest criticism and censure. Finally the republican party cast him out for his persistence in a course which it could not tolerate. Beaten in his attempt to secure a re-election to congress in a district good for ten thousand republican majority, he threw himself into the arms of the democratic party once more; and that party received him back not because it liked him, but because it was only a hopeless minority in the state.

Butler no doubt, will make an active and characteristic effort to secure the democratic nomination for the presidency. But it is hardly probable he will secure it. Too many democrats will insist on having a candidate whom they would deem it worth while to succeed with. Butler is not that man.

A BUNGLED JOB.

When the proposition to move the Central school building was made, it was promised that the work would be accomplished and the building ready for occupancy again in "ten days or two weeks." Upon this understanding, and the further condition that the district should have the use of it during the remainder of the current school year, the building was given to those who are now moving it. But the conditions have not been complied with. Five weeks have passed since the schoolhouse was vacated, but the job of moving is not yet half done. At no time has there been a sufficient force on the work, and once it was wholly abandoned and the force removed to another job. And with all these delays the new site has not been prepared. A brick foundation is yet to be built, and much else remains to be done before the old building can again be set up new. And after that several days will be required to put it in condition for occupancy. Indeed, after five weeks of waiting, the date for beginning school seems farther away than it did upon the day of adjournment. There are but eight more weeks of the school year, and as it is not probable that the building will be ready before a month, it will only be possible to put in part of this time. To resume after so long and unusual a vacation would be like beginning anew and the school could hardly get in working order before the regular summer adjournment. We believe that the best of a very bad bargain is to announce the school closed till September and dismiss the teachers, who during this tedious interim are of course under pay. There has been some clamor against the directors for continuing the pay of the teachers while they are not actually at work, but to have stopped it and yet held the teachers in readiness for service would obviously have been unjust. But certainly, under the circumstances, they could not now complain if they were dismissed till the beginning of the next school year and we believe that the greater number of the taxpayers will take this view of the matter and would prefer, under all the circumstances that the school be dismissed for the year unless the contractors can be made to hurry up their work and have the building ready one week from Monday next.

In a recent address delivered in London, Sir John Lubbock remarked that it had been the policy of Great Britain to limit the customs to a few articles, and especially to free all necessaries, the materials of manufacturers and the food of the people. Fifty years ago, more than 1500 articles were taxed, and now there were scarcely more than 10. Dealing with the income tax, he observed that the total annual value assessed to the income tax amounted to no less than £576,000,000. Ten years ago, in 1872, it was £482,000,000, so that, notwithstanding the fact that things had been very bad, and that the country had experienced great losses, there had been an increase in income of nearly £100,000,000. Of that increase £22,000,000 was in lands and tenements, nearly £50,000,000 in professions and trades, and £10,000,000 in the occupation of lands. Speaking of the wonderful progress of British manufactures, Sir John said: "It is due no doubt partly to the high qualities of our produce, partly to the skill and industry of the British workmen, partly to our natural advantages, especially in the possession of coal and iron, but very much also to the fact that our manufacturers obtain their raw material duty free."

An OREGONIAN reporter who boarded the incoming steamer at Astoria yesterday, furnishes an interesting report concerning his fellow passengers. The immigrants who came by the Oregon were perhaps a fair sample crowd, and they are just the kind of people wanted. The mechanics, the laborers, the farmers and the merchants, are welcome, and will, of course, find profitable employment at once. The one lawyer and seventeen clerks we wish had stayed at home, and probably they will wish so too before the year is ended. Perhaps no country in the world, certainly no state in the union, ever received by immigration a better class of people than those who are now finding their way to Oregon and Washington. They have intelligence, as their wise selection of the northwest as a place of settlement shows; enterprise, or they would not have faced the trials of a long journey by land and sea; and experience of the world, for they cannot get here without acquiring it. Only a fine class of people go to a country difficult to reach. The character of the immigration now coming is perhaps better than will be that of the great flood which will pour in upon us when the railroad is completed.

The banko men at New York have turned their attention to the Methodist ministry, and with such success that it is deemed necessary to publicly warn the unsuspecting brethren.

From THE OREGONIAN'S report of the proceedings at the meeting of the free whisky association yesterday the public will be apt to conclude that perturbation reigns in that order. The caterwauling shows that somebody is hurt, and that is some satisfaction to the disinterested bystander. From the report of the proceedings the inference also will be that THE OREGONIAN is out of favor with the keepers of those moral little hellholes which complain that they are to be deprived by the new ordinance of a chance to make an honest living." If some fifty or more of them were forced to shut up it is possible, however, the community could stand it. Evidently it is going to give the disreputable places trouble to furnish the Bond. Here is the pinch. And all the wind of the cheap whisky association will not relieve it.

It was proper enough for the socialist congress at Copenhagen to adopt a resolution to raise funds for a monument to Karl Marx. All the talk of the day about socialism, nihilism, communism and the international is but another name for the work of this remarkable individual, who was a great student and remarkable organizer, and who impressed his mind upon his time to a degree at which conservatives may well be amazed.

Intelligence of a certain market for fruit at St. Paul, and of the disposition of the N. P. railroad company to put it through in good condition and at easy rates, has been received with great satisfaction by fruit growers throughout the country. Many orchards which for several years have been allowed to go unpruned and uncared for will, we learn, this year be carefully cultivated.

South Carolina doesn't consider herself the center of the universe so much as she did twenty five years ago. The Charleston News and Courier exclaims, "Advertise the state!" The appeal is for capital, skilled labor, and industrial development. Something has been learned since 1860.

MANAGEMENT OF SCHOOL AFFAIRS.

HOL LA PRAIRIE, March 29.

To THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Whilst traveling over the county lately I have been looking into the management of the district schools and I have been very much surprised to see the loose manner in which they are conducted. In many districts, of years standing, the laws have never been read to the scholars the directors have never visited the schools or examined the books of the clerk; the clerk makes out his assessment roll when he gets ready, and not within the time prescribed by law. The clerk holds his office for years and never gives bonds. In some districts corporations with $50,000 or $100,000 worth of property are assessed at $2000, $3000 or $4000, and of course the clerk expects favors for this. The directors are supposed to equalize the assessment, but they cannot do this unless they examine the assessment, and, even then, if no one makes complaint, the directors seldom say anything, and as to making complaint, those most interested seldom know when the directors' meetings are held. This is the way the country districts are managed. I have no doubt in town it is different. It seems to me that the better way would be to have the district assessments made from the county assessments, and that it should be the duty of the county superintendent to see that the clerk and directors did their duty, and, if they did not, let them take the consequences, and put in those who would or forfeit their school money. As things are now managed there is excellent opportunity for petty swindling and the gratification of small spites.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

A REFRACTORY CREW.

VICTORIA, April 5.—[Special.]—The steamship Victoria brought up eighteen sailors from San Francisco to whom an advance of $75 had been paid. The men were for barks Tiber and Antwerp, now lying here. When the steamship arrived off the harbor, in the night, the steamer Anna Beck was sent to convey the sailors from the vessel to the ships, which were waiting for them, but only six of them embraced the opportunity, the rest either hiding away or refusing to go. When the vessel came in yesterday morning, therefore, the police were ready on the wharf, which was cleared while the passengers landed. Police were stationed at the gangway as the passengers passed ashore, but among so large a crowd it was not easy to find the sailors. One, however, flanked the police by coming ashore on the stern rope, and after a short run was captured on the wharf. One or two others also made a short run but were captured, as were all with the exception of three who are supposed to be hiding on board the steamer. The whole of the men were placed in safe keeping prior to being sent on board their vessels.

NEW BUILDINGS AT VICTORIA.

The H. B. Co. have decided to erect a long row of brick and stone stores on Wharf street, directly opposite Commercial. The row will be three stories in hight and having all modern improvements. Buildings face on Wharf street and the rear will overlook the Canadian Pacific Navigation Co.'s wharf. The corner building, that is the southern side of the present entrance to the C. P. N. Co.'s wharf, has been leased in advance of construction to the O. R. & Navigation Co.

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION.

ROME, April 6.—An explosion of a powder depot occurred at Moricone, a small village just out of Passo Corese. Two hundred pounds of powder were stored to be used in blasting, preliminary to the construction of an aqueduct, in the cellar of a tenement, in which 80 workmen had quarters. One of these men, having occasion to go into the cellar, lighted a match, and as it was burning out threw it down. A terrible explosion followed. The whole house was blown into the air. The concussion broke all the windows in the neighborhood. Only a few persons were in the house at the time and they escaped with their lives. All were badly mangled.

The Presidential Contest.

New York Tribune

There is a more anxious search for [illegible] candidates for the next presidential campaign. Both parties seem to agree in the belief that if they have a good cry to go to the country on they can readily find worthy standard bearers. It appears to be generally conceded also that the old war issues will not be made prominent again, unless the new Bourbons left in the south show unexpected boldness. As for the other questions, the one issue of importance is the tariff.

SELLWOOD'S POPULARITY

Is now the question. Her residents are insured passage to and from for five cents. Lots are sold at reasonable prices, and on such easy terms (ten dollars per month, without interest) that any man or woman who has any ambition to own a home of their own can get one. It is now the easiest place reached outside of the city limits, and franchises are now granted for two street railways, thus making it impossible for any other suburb to equal it in easy and quick and cheap means of access. The location itself is not to be equaled. It is sightly, healthful and in every way desirable. Inquire of T. A. WOOD, Odd Fellows' Block.

DIPHTHERIA.

REMEMBER THIS—THAT IT IS POSITIVELY worse than murder to allow any case to prove fatal without trying McClellan's Diphtheria and Fever Remedies. They will positively cure even after all else has failed. No preparations on earth can equal these remedies for Throat and Lung troubles or Fever of all kinds.

The Diphtheria remedy alone is a sure preventive and certain to stop its spread. It acts like magic in croup and whooping cough; will cure any sore throat.

The Stormy Session held at Cahalin's Hall Yesterday Afternoon.

DICK GERDES DISCOVERS A MARE'S NEST

A Terrible Flaw in the New Ordinance that [illegible] [illegible] Attorney [illegible] Stake The High [illegible] [illegible] Roughly Treated.

[illegible]

T[illegible] at [illegible] were new [illegible] of Portland [illegible] in feeling yesterday afternoon in Cahalin's hall [illegible] cannot bear the light [illegible] was held [illegible] with closed doors. [illegible] was to [illegible] eight [illegible] last Wednesday evening [illegible] also necessary for THE [illegible] as a newspaper [illegible] have a [illegible] report of all the proceedings [illegible] was stated to go to the meeting. He arrived [illegible] the motley assemblage was called to [illegible] and [illegible] was [illegible] complaint [illegible] of the treatment. When he [illegible] [illegible] he was met with a pitch [illegible] was [illegible] to have a [illegible] [illegible] was the [illegible] reporter.

[illegible] was the [illegible] should [illegible]

However [illegible] of a reporter all [illegible] and when the first [illegible] a con[illegible] was made and this time with [illegible] pretty tough when a reporter has to [illegible] say for a whisky [illegible] admission to the secret [illegible] men who want [illegible] argument [illegible] there was no help for it [illegible] Gerdes [illegible] liquor merchant [illegible] with [illegible] sole [illegible] in the [illegible] art and with a pocket full of [illegible] [illegible] introduced to the assembly as a whisky drummer for a San Francisco house in full sympathy with the liquor dealers' association.

Has not the reporter been [illegible] a memory equal to that of Oliver [illegible] he would not have been able to make [illegible] a report, even after effecting an entrance so easily. Of course pencil and notebook were out of the question and even an attempt to write [illegible] have been fool hardy and could have resulted only in his ignominious expulsion. When the mind is strained to photograph a two hours debate as this was some thing is necessarily passed over or so blurred as to be unrecognizable. However, those who were present will look at the [illegible] of their actions which is set below, they will recognize a faithful portrait upon a small scale of that occurred.

The hall was crowded and what a gang was there [illegible] countrymen. With one or two exceptions there was none of the respectable element present, but all the lowest dives were represented. Al Zieber the president, called the meeting to order and stated that owing to the absence of the secretary the usual roll call and reading of the minutes of the last meeting would be suspended. He then launched out into a personal explanation of his connection with the petition which was signed by the firm of Zieber & McKinnon and presented to the city council, asking for a license of $30 and bonds of $5 000. He stated that he did not sign the petition and never favored any such ordinance. This petition was not right and never should have been signed by any one. He wanted it understood by the associat on that his signature to that petition was null and void.

Leopold Brenckle, one of the men who was instrumental in the circulation of the petition arose and warmly defended his action, much to the disgust of the crowd stating that he explained the petition thoroughly to every one to whom it was presented, and that J. D. McKinnon Zieber's partner, signed it with the firm name.

A confused wrangling, lasting several moments, followed Brenckle's statement in which the sentiment of the assembly seemed to tend toward the immediate expulsion of all who had signed the hated petition. This was interrupted by some member with a stentorian voice, who moved that in the absence of the regular officer Charles Driscoll, of the firm of [illegible] & Driscoll, who keeps a quiet whisky hole at No. 11 North Second street be made secretary pro tem. The motion was carried unanimously amid cheers and shouts.

Richard Gerdes, Esq., the well respected liquor merchant, now rose to his feet, and after sweeping his eagle eye around upon the assemblage hurled at them the following thunderbolt which created as much excitement as if a bombshell had fallen through the roof:

Mr President, and gentlemen of the liquor dealers' association—The city council at its last session passed an ordinance which we are here to-day to consider. A careful reading of this ordinance is sufficient to satisfy the most obtuse that the amount of license demanded of us is $[illegible] a quarter and not $400 a year!!!" [Great laughter shouts and yells] "This may seem a monstrous statement but it is nevertheless a fact. Col Drake our counsel has discovered this and now has in his office a copy of the ordinance, and to prove that what I have said is true I move that Col Drake be requested to come to this meeting at once and bring his copy of the ordinance with him."

Gerdes' motion was carried and the usual storm of applause which is the result of exuberant spirits and beer. For a time [illegible] there [illegible] ers of it and the detested Gage [illegible] were lost sight of in the great [illegible] the [illegible] Gerdes had unveiled. No further business could be transacted until this terrible thing had been investigated. Two thousand dollars a year. Why, there was not a man in the room that could pay that. On all sides were heard earnest discussions mingled with curses, which lasted a full [illegible] minutes until the committee returned with the sole [illegible] had waited upon their legal adviser and notified him that his services were much needed.

The colonel came and took his place among his clients with pride. As he is one of the new owners who want to run the city government and amend existing laws, the reporter introduces him to the public: Col Frank V. Drake of the law firm of Drake & Stephens, legal advisers of the liquor dealers association of Portland. After clearing his throat, the colonel read his copy of the ordinance and made the following comments:

"Any one can see by the reading of this ordinance that a saloon-keeper is required to pay to the treasurer the sum of $500. Then, in order to get your license, you must file the treasurer's receipt, accompanied by your $3000 bond, with the auditor when he will issue you a license for three months only. If you want a license for another quarter you will have to pay another $500. This is the only manner in which this ordinance can be enforced. No doubt the common council intended to place the license at $500 a year but they did not so enact it. It may be that the treasurer will receive $125 from you, and it may be that the auditor will issue a license to you for that amount, but they have no legal right to do so, and undoubtedly will not as soon as they discover this mistake. That is the status of the law as it now stands. I regard it as a pretty good joke on the persons who sent in the petition to the common council for a $300 license. I hope they have got all they wanted of it."

"What will they do with us if we don't pay the license?" queried an anxious beer seller.

"As a legal proposition," replied the colonel, "they cannot convict you only once each quarter under this ordinance."

"Never mind about the ordinance. We ain't a going to pay the license anyway," shouted Captain Schneider an irascible beer seller who could contain himself no longer. "I want to see those gentlemen who asked for a $300 license come up and express themselves."

This eloquent speech was received with renewed applause of such vigor that the very leather in the boots down stairs trembled. Leopold Brenckle again rose to reply to Capt Snyder. He said the association had been tardy in its movements and by its own delay had allowed the council to pass the $500 ordinance. Great pressure had been brought to bear upon the council and if they had not petitioned it would never have been reduced to $300. He did not take any stock in the statement that the council had passed an ordinance requiring a license of $500 a quarter. The petition had been really a great victory, and he stood by all he had done in the matter.

Capt. Schneider was somewhat mollified to think the liquor dealers had gained a victory in any way and said:

"I don't want to be hasty. I wish Mr President that these members who signed the petition may all be excused this time."

Gerdes was not suited with this and rose to remark: "I don't see where the victory comes in. When we had everything in good shape and the council were afraid of us because we had barred together these men went to work behind our backs and kicked the whole thing over."

He evidently voiced the sentiments of the majority of those present for cries of "Put him out!" [illegible] came vociferously from every part of the room.

Gerdes continued: "In the council the other night Mayor Chapman asked if this petition came from the liquor dealers association and he was told that it had. There was a misrepresentation all through the matter."

Brenckle sprang up again to defend the petition and said there was no misrepresentation. Said he: "I explained it to everybody [illegible] would [illegible] that it would receive the sanction of the association before it went [illegible]. We wanted to show [illegible] but the council [illegible] than we expected. It [illegible] regard it [illegible] misunderstanding it is not my fault."

Gerdes again captured the floor as the [illegible] [illegible] full [illegible] follow. In unity there is always [illegible]. We don't propose to fight [illegible] [illegible] from [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] we propose to [illegible] [illegible] any [illegible] [illegible] people in this [illegible] enough [illegible] high license [illegible] devilish fancy in [illegible] men."

A storm of applause [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] of the down [illegible]

Frank Harrington, at [illegible] was [illegible] advantage of the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] business [illegible] [illegible]

I [illegible] that [illegible] petition [illegible] returning to the [illegible] [illegible] the motion was carried unanimously.

Brenckle [illegible] said [illegible] [illegible] had never been [illegible] [illegible] growing at us. The Oregonian and the other papers of the city have been growing [illegible] and now we are growing [illegible] ourselves."

Frank Harrington [illegible] replied in a peculiar manner that he had posed all the [illegible] wanted [illegible] alone. The association did not meddle with the business of the temperance [illegible] and the church people, and didn't want to be meddled with.

Brenckle replied that this was what the people down south wanted before the war and they got let alone pretty severely. If they weren't careful the liquor dealers of Portland would get let alone the same way.

Gerdes replied to Brenckle's question by saying: "We were satisfied with the old ordinance and that's what we want."

Harrington said: "[illegible] bonds required in the [illegible] ordinance are as bad as the [illegible] they said [illegible] sureties. The way [illegible] against the law and a [illegible] the city authorities know it. Jim Norden is a liquor dealer and went on a bond and was [illegible] They dared [illegible] Mr Norden will tell you so."

[illegible] Drake [illegible] neat little speech [illegible] [illegible] the legislature [illegible] [illegible] see if the [illegible] Oak [illegible] and not servants of the people. If [illegible] to pass any law it wishes there is not a business [illegible] in this city that is safe. [illegible] [illegible] that the council [illegible] be the servants of the people who put them in power.

At [illegible] was [illegible] that the members of the association [illegible] refuse to pay the [illegible]

The meeting [illegible] adjourned [illegible] next Friday afternoon at 2 [illegible] [illegible] reporter [illegible] away [illegible]

The [illegible] reporter was pleased [illegible] that nearly every man present [illegible] [illegible] that as was [illegible] [illegible] papers had been careful [illegible]

[illegible] the well respected [illegible] [illegible] reporter in[illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] will [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] whisky men [illegible] [illegible] faithfully performed [illegible] public.

[illegible] MISTAKE

The Liquor Dealers association yesterday afternoon [illegible] talking over what any sensible and sober man would have known was a clerical error. Their attorney applied to the city auditor for a copy of the ordinance passed last Wednesday. The section referred to reads as follows:

SECTION [illegible] No person or persons shall in this city directly or indirectly, in person or by another, sell barter or deliver or knowingly permit to be sold bartered or delivered for or on his or their account any wine spirituous or malt liquors to be drunk on the premises owned or occupied by him or them without first obtaining a license therefor in the manner hereinafter provided and every person to whom such license shall be granted shall pay into the city treasury the sum of $500 per annum, payable quarterly.

The above section is copied from the original draft of the ordinance and it bears the signature of the mayor and the auditor and clerk. When the attorney for the free whisky men asked to see the ordinance he was shown an engrossed copy and made another copy from that. In engrossing the original ordinance the words italicized above were accidentally omitted. The attorney did not see the original ordinance and the engrossed ordinance was not signed. So all this talk was wasted wind and the debaters would have been better off if they had adjourned sooner and began to hunt bondsmen.

ONE SHIP'S PASSENGERS.

PERSONNEL OF THE IMMIGRANTS BY THE ORE GON YESTERDAY

Where they Came From, what they are Coming Here for and their Occupations—Prominent Persons.

The O. R. & N. Co.'s steamship Oregon crossed in over the Columbia bar at half past ten o'clock yesterday morning and steamed rapidly up to the dock at Astoria. Her decks were black with passengers though she brought the smallest list which has left San Francisco for Portland for several weeks. Though a comparatively light load of passengers there were still one hundred and thirty in the cabin and two hundred and fifty in the steerage. About fifty of the latter principally fishermen and two or three of the former left the ship at that place leaving over three hundred [illegible] for this city and [illegible] in the interior. Of all these but 7 had ever been in Oregon or Washington territory and only 32 were residents of either. The other 300 were either immigrants or travelers for business, health or pleasure.

An OREGONIAN reporter having boarded the ship at Astoria busied himself on the way up the river with asking and answering questions and listening to the comments, remarks and pleasantries of the crowd. It was as happy a crowd as has come up the river for many a week for the trip had been unusually long and rough and some of its pleasantries were ludicrous enough. Coming in sight of Coffin Rock, one man asked another of its name.

"Coffin Rock," was the reply. "A man went up there once in early times to sleep he got to coughing in the night and coughed till he coughed his head off and in the morning they found his head at one side and his body at the other side of the rock—so they named it Coffin rock," [illegible] told with a drollery inimitable in type.

"How do you like the farming land?"—asked with a nod at the heavily timbered shores of the Columbia—would provoke a sally of merriment in the steerage. The serious people would gather around Hansen, the ubiquitous agent of the rail road immigration office who having gained their confidence by passing around his large card and announcing that immigrants could have their baggage transferred to the trains of the Northern Pacific and O. R. & N. Co. free of charge spread out his maps and explained the lay of the land.

Hon J. N. Dolph U. S. senator for Oregon was the most conspicuous figure on the ship as he is in almost any crowd. The senator was still suffering from the effect of sea sickness and would not be interviewed on business or political subjects, but when the reporter asked: "What do you think of our prospects for an increase of immigration this year?" that gentleman became interested at once and replied:

"I do not think we are near the hight of the immigration for this season, and large as it is now the rush will not begin before the completion of the Northern Pacific railroad. Wherever I have been the people have shown a great deal of intelligent interest in Oregon and Oregon affairs. They are now well informed in regard to our developments and our resources much better than they seemed six years ago when I was east before. There is much talk about Oregon and it is always mentioned as having a bright future and as being a good place to go to, and a good country to live in."

Hon H. G. Bierst of Seattle was a passenger and expressed the opinion that the people now coming to Oregon are a class much more desirable on the whole than usually are found moving to a new country at once. He said that Governor Perkins of California in conversation with himself estimated that fully 25 per cent of the passenger traffic between San Francisco and Portland came directly through from the east.

Hon John W. Cherry ex county recorder for San Francisco county Cal. and member of the legislature of California was one of the passengers. He comes to the northwest as the representative of a large amount of capital, seeking investment in business and land enterprises. He said that California capitalists were very favorably impressed with the prospects of Oregon and Washington and that if the people were not too wild in estimating the value of lands and town property, a very large number of them would invest money here.

Nearly every state in the Union was represented by the people on the ship about as follows: 75 from California, 12 from Minnesota, [illegible] from Wisconsin, Iowa, New York and Canada, three each from Indiana, Nebraska and Wisconsin, six from New York City, Nevada, Arizona, Illinois and Kansas, nine from Colorado, 10 from Ohio, 23 from Missouri, four from Wyoming territory, one each from Rhode Island, Massachusetts and Vermont, two from Nova Scotia, three from Italy and about 50 Germans and Scandinavians.

In business pursuits their replies disclosed an equally great diversity. There was one lawyer, one physician, four civil engineers, fifteen merchants, three machinists, three carpenters, two [illegible] two stone masons, two [illegible], two paper makers, one telegraph operator, one mining engineer, one cattle buyer, sixteen [illegible], three [illegible], [illegible] plasterers, seventeen clerks, one [illegible], three locomotive engineers, eleven lumbermen, six teachers, two [illegible], nine blacksmiths, [illegible], two [illegible], twelve railroad men, [illegible] sailors, fifty four farmers and eighty laborers.

Twenty one answered that they were traveling on business or pleasure, two from Arizona were [illegible] [illegible] had relations in Oregon and Washington, [illegible] had never been in Oregon or Washington before [illegible] had their families with them [illegible] [illegible] nine [illegible] Puget sound [illegible] in the Willamette valley [illegible] eastern Oregon [illegible] Washington.

A FEW VERY PLAIN WORDS

Which we have to address

TO THE PUBLIC

Before we publish our next Price list.

IF

It sets some people thinking,

THEN

Our object is attained.

IF

It chagrins others,

THEN

it must bear the stamp of Truth upon its face.

WE BELIEVE IT WILL DO BOTH.

The main reason for the efficacy of advertisements lies in their truth. When a firm places itself before the public in long-winded sentences, and those sentences lack the main essential, "truth," then that firm may as well save the trouble as well as expense, for the people will surely discover their falsities.

The FARMERS AND MECHANICS' has expended more money among the journals of this State than many storekeepers possess as a working capital. It still continues to add thousands of dollars to its expense account for advertising. Does any one believe that such a thing could be possible unless it proved remunerative—and what is more, that it would prove remunerative unless those advertisements were simple truths based upon facts!

When we tell the people that our goods are directly imported from the EASTERN MANUFACTURERS, we do not mean that they were imported through the San Francisco merchants.

When we advertise ONE PRICE TO ALL we do so without any mental reservation, for we do not then have in our mind any preferred customer whom we may favor above others.

When we announce a line of STAPLE GROCERIES at a certain price, then we are careful to always have them in stock.

In this manner we could go on interminably, and show the difference between a real, genuine and sincere advertisement and a real, genuine catchpenny ad.

Our last week's price list on Clothing brought us an avalanche of country orders, and it would afford us great pleasure to prove by our sales books to any "doubting Thomas" that within the last eight days we sold over 360 Gents' Suits of Clothing. We venture the assertion that in the purchase of this clothing the people saved at least 33 1-3 per cent. of the prevailing Portland prices.

WE BELIEVE THIS WILL SET THE PEOPLE THINKING.

LOOK OUT FOR OUR PRICE LIST ON DRY GOODS.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES

The Star Route Trial

WASHINGTON, April 5.—In the star route trial [illegible] on the stand undergoing cross examination said that he loaned Rerdell money before he learned that the latter was going over to the government. Rerdell afterwards told witness that he was in communication with the government. Witness asked Rerdell what he knew. Rerdell said at first that he knew nothing, but afterwards said "I am full, I am full," and that the government did not want him (Rerdell) to go upon the stand but only wanted him to give the pointers.

John W Dorsey was called and said that his brother had endeavored to dissuade him from embarking in the star route business. He denied the conspiracy and said he had spoken to Brady but once in his life.

Ingersoll remarked that witness seemed to know more than the whole outfit.

The court said that he seemed to know what question would be asked him.

Witness remembered no conversation such as detailed by McLellan in which he said the route would be increased through his brother's influence. "It is the most infamous lie in the world," said the witness, "as if I would tell a couple of side whackers such stuff as that, the first time I ever saw them."

The Reorganized Mormon Church

WILLOUGHBY, O., April 5.—The first of a series of annual conferences and reunions of the reorganized Mormon church or the Latter Day Saints opens tomorrow at Kirkland, a country village three miles south of here. Meetings will be held in the Mormon temple, built by Joseph Smith in 1833. Joseph Smith Jr, son of the original Mormon prophet and president of the reorganized church will preside. He will be assisted by W W Blair counselor of the church of Salt Lake and the following apostles or leading members: Z H Gurley missionary at Washington, G R Lambert missionary at Chicago, John H. Lake, missionary at London, Canada; Alex H. Smith, of Missouri; E. C. Briggs, of Wisconsin and Iowa; Missionary T W Smith, of Stewartville, Mo.; Josiah Ellis, of Pittsburg; W H Kelly missionary of Ohio, New York and Michigan.

The Dynamite Plotters

DUBLIN, April 6.—Dalton is suspected of being one of the perpetrators of the outrage on the office of the local government board at Westminster. The prisoners were not arraigned Thursday because, in view of the documents seized by the police, it was decided to make several other arrests which they thought might be frustrated if evidence in their possession was made public. Norman describes him [illegible] to be a clerk [illegible] physician.

It is believed that the government intends to introduce a bill in accordance with Harcourt's opinion expressed in the house of commons yesterday that the present state of the law in regard to possession of the explosives is unsatisfactory.

Testimonial to the Memory of Peter Cooper

WASHINGTON, April 6.—At a meeting the Women's National Industrial league last night Mrs. Charlotte [illegible], president of the association, offered resolutions which were adopted, lamenting the death of Peter Cooper, and expressing the high respect and [illegible] of the members for [illegible] and benefactor [illegible] integrity or exalted him his [illegible]. PLEASURE AND PROFIT

A Longshore Fisherman Interests Our Piscatorial Reporter with Practical Illustrations.

In his rounds yesterday an OREGONIAN reporter noticed a score or more men and boys fishing along the dock between Ash and A streets. The reporter being something of a fisherman himself and like all of his class not having anything particular to do strolled along the wharf to see what luck the fishermen were having. Noticing a stout middle aged man whom he had often seen fishing along the levee the year before, he seated himself behind him and with the gravity of a [illegible] of his class, asked:

"You appear to be a persistent fisherman," [illegible] reporter.

"[illegible] disciple of Izaak Walton. I like it and it is better than loafing around the streets. And I make it pay too."

"How much a day do you make?"

"Well, yesterday I made $4 [illegible] day I made over $5 [illegible]"

Right here he gave a sudden jerk [illegible] his line hand over hand.

"That is a sucker. Now you [illegible] but you a [illegible] that's a sucker."

Just then a fish about two feet [illegible] with a big mouth like a rubber [illegible] teeth came to the surface.

"[illegible] it was a sucker," said the fisherman as he yanked the [illegible]. "[illegible] and the [illegible] about [illegible] pounds of fish [illegible] in water. [illegible] pieces of [illegible] baited his hook [illegible] and with a [illegible] sent them spinning out into the river.

"You appear to [illegible] more than the others," said the reporter.

"Yes, some of them don't have [illegible]. [illegible] see it is all [illegible] turn of the wrist."

Here he gave an [illegible] sudden jerk and commenced hauling in.

"Guess this is a devil crab," [illegible].

Just then up came a large [illegible].

"There [illegible] you [illegible] was a devil crab," said he. "Don't he look like it!"

"Why do you call the fish a devil crab?" said the reporter.

"Well I'll tell you," said he [illegible] and a big fellow standing behind him smoking a short clay pipe bent down to listen. "It's because he is all mouth."

By this time the hooks were baited and thrown out.

"Have the Chinamen any choice in the different kinds of fish?" asked the reporter.

"No. They don't care what kind they buy if they are only large."

Another jerk and up came a fish hooked under the chin and making a hoarse croaking noise as if protesting against his treatment.

"Ah, you were fooling around and got it in the neck," said the fisherman.

"What fish is this which cries out so?" asked the reporter.

"That is a red mouth or croaker. Sometimes you can hear them for a block making that noise."

Whizz! went the freshly baited hooks and after a minute spent in watching the line he gave another jerk.

"Ah!" said he, "I missed that one. Just fooled myself."

He changed his line to his left hand, remarking as he held up the index finger of his right hand:

"I wore out my right finger this morning and had to put a rag around it, and that dulls the sensation and I don't catch on quick enough."

The reporter suddenly remembering at this time that he had been detailed to do the meeting of the cheap whisky dealers' association and that he must start at once if he wished to catch on, bid the jolly angler good day and started at a rapid pace for Cabelina's hall. How he caught on will be seen in another column.

THE O. & C. TUNNELS

Progress of the Work at Grave Creek and Cow Creek—Work Delayed by Timbering

B B Cook, of the firm of Jeffrey & Cook who has been in Southern Oregon for the past year superintending the extensive contracts of the firm on the extension of the Oregon and California railroad is in the city. He reports the work on the tunnels progressing favorably. The Wolf creek, sometimes [illegible] of the Cow Creek tunnel is in about 1 00 feet and is going ahead about four feet per day. This tunnel is self sustaining, being in talcose rock. Three shifts of men, each containing twelve white men and twenty Chinamen are engaged on the work. The work on the other end of this tunnel is being done by the company.

The tunnel between Grave creek and Jump off Joe, 2112 feet in length is about two thirds completed and is progressing at the rate of a little over four feet a day from each end. This tunnel is through shale slate, which is more easily worked than the rock in the Cow Creek tunnel but requires timbering. Every three to four feet timbers 12x12 inches in size are put in and this retards the progress of the work. The force employed here is the same as at the Cow Creek tunnel. The machinery employed is the National air compressor and drill. The smoke from the giant powder is very injurious to the men employed and they are sometimes obliged to go reeling like drunkards from the effects to the mouth of the tunnel for air as the air from the drills is not sufficient to clear the smoke out at once although when a blast is discharged the valves are thrown open at once and the air allowed to escape. Mr Cook is suffering slightly from the effects of this noxious smoke. It is not practicable to run another set of pipes into the tunnel to furnish more air as the machinery for compressing the air is situated about 3000 yards from the tunnel. Mr Cook returns to the front at once.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were adopted by the board of Trustees of the First Unitarian society of Portland on the death of Charles Hodge who died March 30, 1883:

WHEREAS, Charles Hodge the late president of this board of trustees has recently been taken from us on council, by death, and it is fitting that we offer some tribute to his worth and some expression of the sorrow we so keenly feel, therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of Charles Hodge who was a member of this body during the entire period of its existence, who filled the most important position of clerk of this board of trustees nearly the whole of that time, as well as secretary of the building and finance committees of our society in a manner not only satisfactory to all but with a fidelity zeal and devotion which could alone have been inspired by the self-consecration of the Christian, we have sustained a loss severe and irreparable.

Resolved, That death has stilled a heart which ever beat warmly with love for all, that the church of Christ has lost a sincere Christian, the community a good citizen, his friends one whose least thought was for self, and whose love was constant and unshaken.

Resolved, That we will ever revere his name, cherish his memory and strive to emulate his example of devotion to truth and conscience and obedience to the laws of God.

Resolved, That our own sense of bereavement shall not render us unmindful of the suffering now endured by those who miss the presence of the loving husband and father, and we tender them our heartfelt sympathy and condolence in this hour of sorrow.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the records of this board and that a copy suitably engrossed be presented to the family of the deceased.

POLICE COURT

The crop of drunks and disorderlies harvested of late has been so bounteous that Judge Moreland is apparently getting wearied with much repeating of the stereotyped "I fine you $10 or else" the city treasury is getting too full, so he yesterday sent half a dozen below for five days, and let two mild drunks off altogether. The fellows who put up bail and forfeited it were the worst cinched ones in the lot.

The case of Mrs. Donnelly charged with assault on Mary Kerrigan was continued till to-day much to the disgust of the defendant who was so filled with her wrongs that she insisted on telling her story and it required considerable exertion to persuade her to bottle up her wrath and keep it till the proper time.

The charge of assault against Chris Eberl preferred by Mrs Downing, appeared to have been the result of a sort of a family row in the kitchen and Eberle was fined $10. Mrs Downing will probably be arrested for assault on Eberle's boy.

P Thomas accused of stealing whisky etc from Jim Turk's house was held to answer before the grand jury. John Gibbs, the prosecuting witness, gave bonds to appear as a witness at the trial. Jim Turk going his security. Thomas claims the whole affair is a put up job by Turk.

Ah Yoe charged with larceny of a pair of pantaloons from another Chinaman, at Hood river last November, refused to talk through the court's interpreter or in any other manner and did not appear to care a cent whether school kept or not. He was held to answer and it [illegible] have been fined for contempt of court.

Gazette: This week we met a representative of the O R & N Co who says he has been sent to make a thorough inspection of the Yakima and Kittitas valley country, to see what is the present outlook for a crop and the prospective value of the country as an agricultural region. His impression is that a narrow gauge railroad will be constructed through Yakima and Klickitat. If so its river terminus will most likely be Klickitat landing.

The hook and ladder outfit purchased for the new company organized at Seattle last fall has arrived in San Francisco from New York, and will come up the coast on one of the first steamers ten days hence. It consists of a truck, 4 ladders, eight Babcock fire extinguishers and an abundant number of hooks etc. The whole rig cost $1 200 to the time of its landing in San Francisco. Manager Howard has promised that it shall be brought up the coast at half the regular rates.

Seattle Intelligencer: Some time during Friday night thieves broke into the postoffice entering through a side window but for some reason they did little or no damage to the contents of the office, probably owing to being scared out before they had time. As there are so many strangers in Seattle, some of whom are necessarily bad, it will be well for our citizens to load up their old shot guns, muskets, pistols and other fire-arms and be ready for any midnight marauders who may give them a call.

Seattle Intelligencer: By a recent order from the bureau of Indian affairs a new division of Indian reservations in this section has been made. Here after Quinault and Neah Bay will be two agencies, Skokomish, Chehalis, Squaxon, Nisqually and Puyallup a third, Tulalip, Port Madison, Swinomish and Lummi a fourth. During the past year the Indians on these reservations have been combined in two, Mr Edwin Eells being in charge of one, and Gen. Oliver Wood of the other. Under the new order of things Gen Wood will have charge at Neah Bay, and Mr Eells either at Tulalip or Skokomish, but which we are not advised. Two agencies will remain to be filled. This change is a startling one coming entirely unexpected and we fancy it is not one of the most pleasing character to agents Wood and Eells.

BABY'S PETITION

Little crowlers lay are doing
Children bloom but die in teething
Warning take all mothers and the hours
Watch the pearl, us girls and brothers
Read the home life of Victoria,
Children mine all had Castoria;
No sleepless nights, by baby squalling,
Like larks they rise in early morning

HUMBUGGED AGAIN

I saw so much said about the merits of Hop Bitters and my wife who was always doctoring and never well teased me so urgently to get her some, I concluded to be humbugged again and I am glad I did for in less than two months use of the Bitters my wife was cured and she has remained so for eighteen months since. I like such humbugging.—H. T., St Paul.—Pioneer Press.
